Swedish Liner Limpes Into Port with Remaining Survivors of Sunken Ship

Arrivals Bring Known Survivors of Tragedy to 1,698

NEW YORK (AP) — The crippled Swedish liner Stockholm limped back to port today with the last group of 556 survivors of the sunken Italian sea queen Andrea Doria.

The 11,000-ton vessel, her bow peeled back like a sardine can from her collision with the Andrea Doria, turned into her Pier 97 berth on the North River shortly before noon EDT.

The arrivals aboard the Stockholm brought to 1,698 the number of known survivors of the 1,706 passengers and crewmen aboard the 29-million-dollar Italian luxury liner, which was rammed by the Swedish vessel off the Massachusetts coast Wednesday night. The Andrea Doria sank Thursday morning 11 hours after the collision.

At least seven persons died as a result of the sea tragedy, and two persons from the Andrea Doria were unaccounted for and believed missing. One of the dead was a crewman from the Stockholm.

The disabled liner, its trim white hull disfigured by a gaping, ragged-edge black hole, was edged gingerly to its berth in a light drizzle by two tugs. The silent survivors, many dressed in clothes given them by the Stockholm's passengers, crowded the gangways in their eagerness to end their 36-hour nightmare.

Study Cause of Tragedy
Hundreds of relatives and friends, most of whom had met four preceding rescue ships in vain, waited anxiously at an Italian line dock Pier 84 to which the

Nasser Seizes Suez Canal for Egypt; Britain Urges Action

LONDON (AP) — Britain today called on the United States, France and the Commonwealth to join in countering Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's seizure of the vital Suez Canal.

Eden told the House of Commons that Egypt's "nationalization" of the vital 101-mile waterway created a "serious situation."

He said that international consultations already were underway and promised Britain would meet the Egyptian action with "firmness."

The prime minister refused to reveal to Commons what action he had in mind until "the other governments immediately concerned" have had their say.

Parliament echoed with demands that Britain meet "force with force" and cries of "Hitler" when Eden officially disclosed the Egyptian revolutionary regime's seizure of the canal.

Calls Emergency Session
Eden summoned his cabinet into emergency session to discuss what he denounced as the "arbitrary" decision by Nasser to "expropriate" the canal, Britain's historic lifeline to the empire and the Commonwealth.

The French cabinet was called into special meeting in Paris today by Premier Guy Mollet. France has large interests in the canal although Britain now is the major stockholder in the "nationalized" company.

The U. S. State Department withheld comment on the Nasser action pending a more detailed study. U. S. officials were apparently taken by surprise at Nasser's takeover of the internationally-controlled canal.

President Eisenhower and his Cabinet discussed the seizure this morning. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the State Department might issue a statement.

Nasser in a violently anti-Western speech to thousands of wildly cheering Egyptians in Alexandria Thursday, announced the "nationalization" of the Suez Canal and warned that "every Egyptian will fight to the death" any attempts to frustrate the move.

"The Suez Canal belongs to Egypt," the Egyptian president said. He said that the revenue from the canal would go to financing the $1,300,000,000 Aswan high dam project on the upper Nile River.

Take Over Holdings
Egyptian officials, escorted by armed police, immediately moved in to take physical possession of the company's holdings and properties in Egypt. A special commission under the Ministry of Commerce took over operations of the canal which links the Mediterranean and Red seas.

Nasser made no attempt to conceal that the seizure was in direct retaliation for the refusal of the United States and Great Britain to help finance the dam. With the revenue from the shipping which plies the canal to save the tedious voyage around the Cape of Good Hope, Nasser said Egypt need not "look to the United States or Britain" for help.

Opposition Laborite Leader
Hugh Gaitskell, who called on Eden for a statement of the Egyptian action, voiced full support for the prime minister.

Local Kiwanians Visit Anna Club

Seventeen members of the Harrisburg Kiwanis club attended a meeting of the Anna club Thursday night. The occasion of the group visit was to take the traveling gavel of Division 16 to Anna, home club of Lt. Gov. Leon Whitney.

The traveling gavel is used to encourage interclub meetings of the 16 clubs in Division 16 and the club traveling the greatest distance with the best percentage of members attending wins the gavel.

President Ronnie Doerge of the local club presented the gavel to President Fred Brooks of the Anna club.

Lt. Gov. Whitney introduced Fred Wunderlich of the Harrisburg club, who was elected lieutenant governor for next year at the Division's annual sports day held at Marion Monday night. Wunderlich will assume his duties the first of the year.

Actress Ruth Roman Was Separated From Young Son During Ship Disaster

Editor's Note: Hollywood actress Ruth Roman, a survivor of the sinking of the Italian liner Andrea Doria, told a United Press reporter aboard the rescue liner Ile De France that her 3½-year-old son had become separated from her during the disaster. The actress was interviewed wearing a man's T-shirt and baggy man's pants tied around her waist with a yellow ribbon.

By RUTH ROMAN
As Told To United Press
NEW YORK (AP) — I was sitting in the Belvedere room on the Andrea Doria with some friends.

It was shortly before 11:30 p. m. There was a feeling of gaiety as the passengers were dancing across the floor.

All of a sudden, there was an explosion like a firecracker and the ship immediately started to list. I took off my high-heel shoes and ran down two decks below to get my son, Dickie, who is 3½ years old. I knew something had happened but I didn't know what.

A sailor tried to hold me back but I pushed him aside and said, "I have to get my son." I entered our cabin and grabbed three blankets out of the closet, picked up my son in my arms and led him nurse to the top deck.

We immediately sat on the grand staircase waiting for help. My son thought it was terribly exciting but I didn't know what was going on. I found a red balloon on the staircase and blew it up for him. We were sitting there for some two hours when we saw the lights of the Ile De France. Some of the people cheered but everyone was calm.

The boat was listing so badly now that I had to take my son on my lap and slide down the side of the deck to the lifeboats. My dress ripped up the back all the way. I handed Dickie to a sailor who took him down the ladder and put him in the lifeboat.

I was on the ladder going down when the lifeboat moved away. I was clinging to the ladder for several seconds but it seemed like minutes before another lifeboat came by. I got onto it and arrived a short time later on the Ile De France.

My son was separated from me and I believe he was taken to another boat on the scene. I haven't heard anything about him as yet but I believe he is safe. (He was put aboard the Stockholm).

At Least Three Overcome by Heat, Humidity

At least three Harrisburg persons were overcome by yesterday's heat and humidity.

In the Harrisburg hospital is W. A. Jones, put to bed there after he was overcome. Also affected by the hot sun and humidity were two young cousins, Mike Hunsinger, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunsinger who live on South Granger street, and Kim Ewell, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Ewell who reside on South Main street.

The two lads were not hospitalized but were treated and are being kept inside and quiet today. Although yesterday felt like the hottest day of the year to many local residents, the mercury was five degrees short of the season high.

Yesterday's official top mark was 97 degrees, while on July 2 the temperature rose to 102, it was revealed by Clyde Pittman, local observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau, who has government instruments at his home.

However, following the recent rains the humidity was so great yesterday that the temperature felt like it was the hottest yet to many.

Three Downstate Democratic Delegates Remain Away from Powell Meeting

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — At least three downstate Democratic national convention delegates who support Adlai E. Stevenson today stayed away from a delegation meeting called by State Rep. Paul Powell.

Powell said the meeting was "not anti-anyone," but he conceded there was likely to be talk of support for New York Gov. Averell Harriman.

Powell presided at another recent meeting of the downstate delegates which completely ignored native son Stevenson.

That meeting was called by former U. S. Sen. Scott W. Lucas and ex-Gov. John Stelle, both of whom oppose Stevenson and both of whom were again present today.

A statement issued after the first meeting reported strong sentiment for Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo).

V. Y. Dallman, editor of the Illinois State Register, said he, Richard G. Hershey, Taylorville, and James Drew, Springfield, all would stay away from the meeting.

All three support Stevenson. Powell said at least 10 downstate delegates talked with Harriman when he spoke at Champaign earlier this week. He said many of the delegates and state legislators who were at Champaign came away favorably impressed with Harriman.

He said some Democrats at the Champaign meeting felt Harriman was more of a "Roosevelt-Truman Democrat" than Stevenson, and that this would help Harriman in Illinois.

State Democratic organization leaders privately expressed surprise at Powell, who is a delegate at large with half a convention vote and has no official position as a leader of the delegation, should call a meeting of the downstate delegates.

The organization, headed by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, supports Stevenson.

Provides 45.6 Cents Hour Hike, Other Benefits

Basis for Settlement Approved by Union Policy Committee

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Steelworkers of America and the steel industry today signed a three-year no-strike agreement giving a total increase of 45.6 cents an hour in wages and other benefits over the life of the contract.

The agreement provides for a package increase the first year of 20.3 cents an hour; 12.2 cents in the second year and 13.1 cents in the third year.

The new agreement will add $1,332,000,000 to the industry's total labor costs.

The nation's 650,000 steel workers will receive a direct wage increase of 10.5 cents the first year, 9.1 cents the second year and another 9.1 cents in the third year—a total of 28.7 cents in wages.

Their average hourly wage under the old contract was $2.47. The "basis for settlement" was approved unanimously by the Union's Wage Policy Committee. However, the 27-day steel strike will not end until details of contracts between the union and the individual companies have been completed.

David J. McDonald, USW president, and John A. Stephens, chief industry negotiator, said "this will take several days." The strike probably will end early next week, bringing to a close the nation's most serious strike in four years.

The 27-day walkout has cost the nation more than one billion dollars in lost wages and production and has idled more than 800,000 workers in steel and allied industries. It is the fourth longest steel strike in history.

The agreement also calls for a form of guaranteed annual wage, premium pay for Sunday work, improved holiday and vacation pay, an improved union shop, improved pensions and insurance, jury pay and other fringe benefits.

When the new contracts go into effect some time next week, the steel industry is expected to raise steel prices $8 to $10 a ton.

The lowest base pay rate under the old contract was $1.68 1-2 an hour. This will rise to $1.82 immediately and to $1.89 in 1957, $1.96 in 1958. The top wage scale under the old contract was $3.54 1-2. This will rise in 1958 to $3.97.

One of the key bones of contention that led to the strike July 1 was the union's demand for premium pay for weekend work. The union wanted time and a half for Saturday and double time for Sunday when those days were included in a man's regular work week.

Marie Rude, Yother Receive Sentence

Marie Rude and George David Yother yesterday received one-year prison terms when arraigned before County Judge Trafton Dennis.

Mrs. Rude was sentenced to a year at the Dwight institution for contributing to the dependency and neglect of her children. George David Yother got a year on the state farm at Vandalia for performing acts tending to cause delinquency.

City and county officers a few nights ago went to the Rude home in East Harrisburg after receiving complaints about the place, picked up the Rude children and turned them over to the Child Welfare service, and arrested the woman and man.

Yother was found hiding in a trunk in the house.

Fuchs of Evansville, Ind., is one of the antique automobiles to be displayed in the Jaycees' antique auto show at the Saline County Fair, Thursday night, Aug. 2. The Overland has been completely restored from bumper to bumper by its owner, and now looks just as it did on the showroom floor 46 years ago. When Mr. Fuchs began restoring his car, he found that the tires were of a size which had been out of production for many years, and he finally had to have them specially made by the Firestone Tire and Rubber company. The Overland is just one of the many antique automobiles to be displayed at the show, which takes place between sections of the annual Saline County Beauty Pageant, sponsored by the Harrisburg Jaycees.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Stassen Had Green Light But Not Blessing From Ike; GOP Bigwigs Believed Someone Must Start Move To Oust Nixon; Ike Long Shied Away From Enthusiastic Endorsement Of Nixon.

WASHINGTON. — In the shadows behind Harold Stassen and his "dump-Dick" movement are such powerful Republicans as Gen. Lucius Clay, Ike's intimate friend; Sidney Weinberg, the Wall Street banker; Paul Hoffman, the ex-Marshall Plan administrator; Jack McCloy, head of the Chase bank and former high commissioner to Germany. They don't dislike Dick, but they do consider him a drag on the ticket. With repeated attention focused on Ike's health, they know the public will be voting not alone for the President, but for the man who would replace him—if. . . . These backstage bigwigs wanted someone to break the Nixon ice. . . . Henry Luce's potent publications fired two shots which had the earmarks of an artillery barrage in preparation for the dump-Dick movement. Life Magazine carried a penetrating, not too friendly diagnosis of Nixon. Time carried a devastating diagnosis of Ike's medical history, stating that the heart attack lessened his life expectancy 30 per cent, that recurrence of ileitis was 50 per cent. . . . Though Eisenhower didn't encourage Stassen, inside fact is that he didn't discourage him. Ike was quite willing to have a trial balloon launched by others with no responsibility by him. . . . Stassen has shown courage in various moves around the White House. He was the first to tangle with McCarthy. But he doesn't go out on such an important political limb without a green light from Mr. Big. . . . Chris Herter, Jr., son of the Massachusetts governor whom Stassen is booming to replace Nixon, was once administrative assistant to Nixon. After that he became counsel to Stassen's Foreign Operations Administration.

Texas Tantrums — The Lone Star state goes into its big election battle Saturday with some interesting candidates on the ballot. . . . Warren G. Harding is running for state treasurer against Jesse James. . . . Two men are running who are under indictment. J. Roy Ramsour, under indictment for murder and facing trial, is running for justice of the peace in Edinburg. . . . George Parr, who has served time for income-tax evasion and is now under a new federal indictment, is running for sheriff of Duval county. Last week he was arrested for threatening a county official with a rifle. . . . In Brownsville, Sen. Roger Kelley, law partner of county political boss J. C. Looney, is being opposed by Hubert Hudson, scion of Oklahoma-Texas oil millions. The Kelley-Looney law firm accepted and kept a $4,000 retainer from U. S. Trust, the now-bankrupt Texas insurance company. . . . Royce Oxford is running for district judge on a platform of permitting lawyers to take off their coats in the courtroom. . . . it's hot in Texas!

Cautious Ike — Careful examination of Eisenhower's Nixon statements shows that he personally never went overboard for Dick. . . . His first statement was that he had told Nixon to "chart his course — not exactly a warm embrace for a running mate. Nixon then phoned various GOP state leaders, said he was taking soundings to see what course he should chart, wanted their opinion. Flattered, most said they favored him. Nixon kept a score sheet, let it come to Ike's attention. . . . Suddenly, just before Murray Chotiner, his campaign manager, was scheduled to appear before a Senate committee, Nixon rushed into the White House for a late-afternoon, unscheduled visit. He had not been on the calling list. He told Ike he had charted his course, would like to run. . . . Nixon's friend Hagerty said Ike was "delighted." . . . But there was no personal statement from the President, no posing together for photographers, as is customary. . . . After the second illness, word came from Len Hall that the ticket would be the same. But there was no statement from Ike himself. . . . He did not deny, but also did not affirm. His tactics in other disputes, such as the Army-McCarthy row, the State Department-McCarthy row, have been to let those around him battle things out. . . . Len Hall's strategy has been to avoid a nomination dispute, keep a united front at San Francisco and before. Len was never personally enthusiastic about Nixon, but he has been Nixon's best political friend because he believes in unity.

Adlai Had To Choose — Adlai Stevenson had to choose between Mrs. Mahoney and Mrs. Monroney the other night after the Senator George dinner. Mrs. Florence Mahoney had invited him to a reception after the dinner. Mrs. Mike Monroney, wife of the senator from Oklahoma, invited him to meet a distinguished group of senators, also after the dinner. He chose Mrs. Mahoney. . . . At her party were George Killian, president of the American President Lines, who raised many thousands for Adlai's campaign in California; also Tom Finletter, who will be Stevenson's secretary of defense if elected. . . . Col. Jake Arvey, the Chicago politician who has been Stevenson's close confidant, spent time with dark-horse Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri or his recent visit to Washington. Arvey thinks Symington would make a good candidate. . . . Some Democratic diehards are maneuvering not only to block Senator Kefauver from getting the vice presidency but to ruin him in Tennessee. Speaker Sam Rayburn, who hates Kefauver, is prompting the idea of nominating Sen. Albert Gore, the other senator from Tennessee, for vice president—as a slap at Kefauver. They've been checking on Gore's war record—to see why he didn't serve in World War II. . . . Congressman with one of the best attendance records in Washington is Lester Johnson of Washington. He hasn't missed an important vote or roll call.

Health Service Reports Polio Lowest Since 1947

WASHINGTON (U)—The Public Health Service announced today that the 1956 polio rate is running lower than in any other year since 1947.

It said the 3,900 new cases reported so far this year fall considerably short of the 5,486 reported during the same period of 1955. Only in the low year of 1947 were there fewer cases—1,573.

But for some unexplained reason the paralytic rate this year is running nearly as high as last year. The big reduction has come in non-paralytic cases.

So far there have been 2,019 new paralytic cases—only 12 fewer than in 1955. And last week there were 279 cases, actually 4 more than in the same week last year.

Salk polio shots are designed mainly to combat paralytic polio. But authorities said there is no way of telling yet what role they are playing in this year's polio patterns.

The service said only five states—Illinois, Missouri, Louisiana, Arizona, and California—have reported more new cases this year than they did during the same period last year.

Survivors of Sunken Ship Have One Thing in Common: They All Lost Everything

NEW YORK (AP)—A thousand survivors of the sunken Andrea Doria came ashore here in the last 24 hours with a single thing in common—they had lost everything.

There were burly Mike Rutigliano and gentle Sister Maria Collistius, suave Lucio Vizzini and vicious young Delores Sejda. None of them owned more when they set foot ashore than they could carry in their hands.

Mike Rutigliano carried a dirty bundle wrapped in newspapers. "My shirt and pants," he said holding them high in his hand. He wore a pair of dungarees and a sweatshirt borrowed from a crewman of the Ile de France.

Lost Clothes, Money

"I saved my passport," he said. "But I don't have one dollar or one suit of clothes. I don't even know where I'll sleep tonight.

Sister Collistius clung to a handful of letters and a rosary. Her habit was in disarray. But she was happy and cheerful.

"We prayed aloud on this rosary while we waited for the lifeboats," she said. "I remember we prayed the Glorious Mysteries. It was Wednesday, you know. That is the day for the Glorious Mysteries."

Has Place to Stay

Sister Collistius said she felt lucky. We don't have any money but we have a place to stay. We have a reservation in the Martha Washington Hotel. I'm going there now."

Lucio Vizzini wore the same suit, shirt and tie that he had on when he was dancing aboard the Andrea Doria. It was neat and well tailored . . . with a black oil streak across the back.

"I lost my passport and my money, my baggage and my souvenirs," he said. "Do you know how much money I have? Look." He showed two one dollar bills carefully folded in an address book.

Furs, Passport Gone

"My uncle will meet me here. He'll take care of me. I don't have to worry," he said.

Delores Sejda, a lovely 24-year-old blonde daughter of a doctor, carried only a pair of high-heeled shoes.

"They're my mother's," she said. "But I don't know where mother is. She must have been picked up by another rescue ship." Delores said she had had 15 pieces of luggage . . . and saved nothing.

"I didn't even save my glasses," she said. "It's hard to see without them. All my furs, my passport, everything is lost. But my father saved some money. He tucked it inside his life preserver."

Calendar Of Meetings

There will be a meeting of World War I veterans at the city hall today at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. John Cullins o Naylor, Mo., will speak at the morning and evening services at the First Church of God on Friend Street in Carrier Mills July 29.

Estimate Average American to Eat 162 Pounds Meat in 1956

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicted today the average American will eat about 162 pounds of meat during 1956. This is 1.3 pounds more meat per person than was consumed in 1955.

The department also estimated each person will eat about 10 pounds of fish; 365 eggs; 100 pounds of fresh fruits and 143 pounds of fresh vegetables.

All this and more will be washed down with 15.4 pounds of coffee calculated on a green bean basis and 365 pounds of fluid milk and cream.

The department estimated the cost of this feast probably will be about the same as it would cost today.

Because four great lakes serve as its reservoir, Niagara Falls has the steadiest flow of all the world's great waterfalls.

Libi Staiger Receives Praise in Cleveland for 'Call Me Madam' Role

Miss Libi Staiger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Staiger, has again received well-deserved praise by critics in Cleveland, Ohio, where she is presently starring in the Broadway musical "Call Me Madam."

The Cleveland Plain Dealer stated that "By the very nature of the plot, the acting load falls to the role of Sally Adams; and Musicians' made no mistake in assigning the part to Libi Staiger."

Previous to the production, "Call Me Madam," Miss Staiger played the leading role in the musical "Plain and Fancy" in Cleveland.

The Cleveland News had this to say: "Libi Staiger, who gave ample demonstration of her talents in last week's 'Plain and Fancy' brings to the lead role the animation, the sharp handling of sharp lines and the voice the Berlin tunes demand and deserve."

When Broadway first saw the show, loud were the cheers for Ethel Merman who had the role of Mrs. Sally Adams. The Cleveland Plain Dealer says: "Wisely Miss Staiger steered clear of the impediments of imitation and fashioned the diplomat as an exuberant lady with plenty of dough, an inhibition for entertaining and a genial approach that often overleaps itself but still remains a quality to show that Sally is a lady and no rough-neck when all is said and done."

Libi starred in "Plain and Fancy" in Buffalo, N. Y., for two weeks, did the show in Cleveland, and after this current production will leave July 30 for Buffalo to do "Call Me Madam," after which she will do a two weeks' run of "Kismet." Following her engagement in New York she will return to Cleveland to do "Kismet" for three weeks.

Miss Staiger's husband, "Jerry Eskow," is in New York doing television work.

Mrs. Roy Staiger returned recently from Cleveland where she spent a week with Libi and saw her performance in "Call Me Madam."

Miss Libi Staiger

Owney Furman, who has been in a hospital at Herrin for treatment, has returned to his home on East Locust street in this city.

In Memoriam

In memory of John Sullivan, who passed away three years ago July 27, 1953:

Some day, some where, I know not when,

Dear husband, we shall meet again
We worship at our Saviour's feet,
It may not be until that hour
God shall come in all His power,
My life of sadness shall pass away,
And be dissolved in eternal day.
But, oh, the joy of that blessed meeting

With my loved one I shall be greeting.

My toils of life will soon be over,
And pain and grief I will know no more.

How happy I would be,
If I could call him back to me.
God in His wisdom know best
And called my loved one home to rest.

My home is sad and lonesome,
My heart is troubled.
He has gone home to live with Jesus,

To dwell for evermore.
Just a few more days to stay here,
It may not be long to wait.

I know my loved one would gladly be waiting,
There at the golden gate.

Sadly missed by wife, Lucille Sullivan. *25-1

Office Manager Buys Hodge Agency In Granite City

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (U)—Earle J. Miller, office manager of the insurance and real estate agency owned by Orville E. Hodge, has announced that he has purchased the agency for an undisclosed sum. Miller was office manager of the agency for the last five years. It was founded 39 years ago by the father of the resigned Illinois state auditor, who reportedly built it into a thriving business. Hodge is said to have reaped $25,000 to $35,000 annually from the agency. Miller said he plans to move the agency across the street from its present location at 1915 Edison Avenue in Granite City, and to change the name of the firm to the E. J. Miller Co. The new owner said the sale was completed Monday, the day before Hodge was indicted on 46 counts in a million-dollar check scandal. Hodge has pleaded innocent to the charges.

Daughter Finds Dad After 36 Years

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U)—A man walked into the wrong home, and Mrs. Ora Morgan was reunited with the father she hadn't seen in 36 years. Mrs. Morgan had lost track of her father in 1920 and finally given up a search when told he was dead. Then one day an elderly man wandered into her house here by mistake. "I had a funny feeling inside when I saw him," Mrs. Morgan said. She watched him when he left and saw that he had a room in the home of a friend of Mrs. Morgan. The man would sit on the porch every day, and every day Mrs. Morgan would walk by, look at him and speak. "When I'd get home I'd take down the picture I kept over the mantle, the one of my father and mother taken in 1910." The man in the picture had a moustache, the one down the street didn't. Finally, Mrs. Morgan told her friend, "That's my father lodging with you," and asked her to bring the man, Irvin Leslie White, to see her. When the man walked in, Mrs. Morgan showed him the picture. "Lord, that's my wife, my wife," he said.

Danville Churchmen Again Charge Vice Operating in City

DANVILLE, Ill. (U)—The off again, on again dispute over the prevalence of vice in this eastern Illinois city not far from Chanute Air Force Base was very much on again today. Danville churchmen Thursday charged that bawdy houses are operating on a wide open basis again. In particular, one minister charged at a meeting held to discuss the vice situation that seven brothels employing 13 prostitutes were operating "as late as yesterday."

Housing Slows Congress on Adjournment

Bill-Passing Pace Is Braked Almost To Standstill

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—House and Senate leaders made some progress today toward breaking a housing bill deadlock that slowed the drive toward congressional adjournment.

Because of this and other snarls the bill-passing pace was braked almost to a standstill in the first several hours of what legislators hoped would be the last day of the second session of the 84th Congress.

Senate and House differences on the housing bill were still unresolved after a two-hour conference, but leaders said they were certain they would eventually get together.

An effort by Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) to revive two administration atomic bills delayed House action on other measures.

The bills would encourage private development of atomic power. They had virtually been given up as lost.

Cole said he wouldn't approve any unanimous consent action on other legislation unless the House did something about the atomic bills. That forced the House into time-consuming parliamentary maneuvers.

The Senate was certain to give quick approval today to the compromise social security bill and the $3.7 billion foreign aid money bill. The House passed both Thursday.

Senate-House conference committees were at work on compromise versions of the flood insurance bill and a public works authorization bill. Both could be cleared before adjournment.

Another adjournment hitch developed Thursday night when the Senate rejected a compromise version of the session's last regular money bill. At issue was an appropriation for a minerals purchase program which was stricken from the compromise at the insistence of House conferees.

The Senate later insisted that the program be restored. Senate leaders hoped the House would accept an amendment agreeing to this.

Rev. Cummins, Halbersleben On Soil Program

The Rev. W. L. Cummins, pastor First Methodist church, Harrisburg, and Paul Halbersleben, secretary of the Saline County Soil Conservation district, will speak to farmers and agriculture leaders of the state assembled in Carbondale, on August 5th, 6th and 7th, according to an announcement made by Alva A. Gholson, chairman of the Saline County Soil Conservation district.

The occasion will be the annual conference of Illinois Soil Conservation District directors and the eighth annual meeting of the Association of Illinois Soil Conservation Districts. The conference will be held on the campus of Southern Illinois University with the meeting sessions being held in the University auditorium. The conference will begin with a barbecue at 5 p. m. on Sunday, Aug. 5, and will end at 9 p. m. Tuesday, Aug. 7.

Rev. Cummins will address the opening session on Sunday evening. Mr. Halbersleben will appear on the program during the Monday morning session. Mr. Gholson is a member of the program committee responsible for making recommendations as to what should be included in the State Association program.

The directors of the Saline district who are expected to attend the conference in addition to Mr. Halbersleben are Mr. Gholson, Carl Vance, Cecil Nelson, Ewell Harris, R. L. Morris, Lowell Wise and Ernie Tate. The wives of some of the directors will also attend.

The neighborhood Group Leaders of Saline district are invited to attend the conference on Tuesday when the program will include a tour of the University experimental farm. Several leaders are expected to make the trip.

Anyone wishing to attend the conference is welcome to any or all of the sessions. Special programs have been arranged for the women.

10 Truckers Pay Delinquent Fees

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—Atty. Gen. Latham Castle today announced 10 truckers have paid $3,513 in delinquent 1952 truck taxes and suits against them have been dismissed.

Castle said the payments brought to a total of $372,685 the money collected from delinquent truckers as a result of filing suit against them.

Fined

George Canterbury of Wilmoth Addition today pleaded guilty to charges of violating the Illinois garbage feeding law and was fined $25 and costs by County Judge Trafton Dennis.

Mrs. Caroline Paschen, Mother of Candidate For Governor, Dies

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill. (U.P.)—Mrs. Caroline S. Paschen, 74, mother of the Democratic candidate for Illinois governor, died Thursday in Highland Park hospital.

Her son, Herbert C., is seeking election against incumbent Republican Gov. William G. Stratton and currently is Cook County (Chicago) treasurer. Mrs. Paschen, a native of Bensenville who resided in Skokie, had been ill for some time. Private services will be held Monday.

Deadline Today For Soil Bank

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The deadline for putting surplus land in this year's "soil bank" falls today.

The Agriculture Department said Thursday more than eight million acres of crop land were taken out of production by last week. Farmers will get $164,900,473 from the government for not producing crops on the land.

The department's goal for the 1956 soil bank program was 8½ million to 15 million acres. Acreage deposited through July 20 almost reaches the minimum goal.

Under the acreage reserve program, farmers can earn payments for cutting production below government acreage allotments on cotton, corn, wheat, peanuts, rice and tobacco.

Corn acreage deposits of 3,300,000 acres were close to the department's maximum of 4,000,000 for that crop. The minimum corn goal was 2,000,000 acres.

Wheat acreage in the bank so far totals 3,900,000 acres. The department's goal for wheat was 5,000,000 to 8,000,000 acres.

Tropical Storm Moves Inland

TAMPICO, Mex. (U.P.)—Anna, the first tropical storm of the season, broke her back on the rugged mountain ranges of north-east Mexico south of Tampico today.

She moved inland Thursday night, with winds up to 60 miles an hour near the boiling center.

Tampico, not yet recovered from last year's devastating hurricanes, battered down. Forerunning strong winds blew down telegraph lines between Tampico and San Luis Potosi.

Wooden homes in the port's low-lying sectors which were flooded last year were abandoned. Many home and store owners boarded up their windows. Gusty head winds caused blowing dust.

As Anna blew inland, she still was below minimum hurricane strength of 75 miles an hour. The 60-mile-an-hour winds were reported in the center. Gales extended out about 100 miles toward the east in a semi-circle.

Liner Brings Remaining Survivors to Port

Survivors were brought by bus after disembarking 13 blocks away.

Officials of both the Swedish-American and the Italian lines, who flew here from Europe Thursday, were on hand to question the officers of the Stockholm about the baffling failure of radar to prevent what was one of the worst collisions in maritime history.

Nautical experts said the tragedy could have been caused by atmospheric conditions—or human error.

The board of directors of both lines called emergency sessions in Stockholm and Genoa this morning and were expected to make formal requests for an investigation by the American marine authorities.

The U. S. Coast Guard already has begun to gather full details of the collision for a congressional committee.

But for the moment, the human side of the tragedy overshadowed the placing of blame for the loss of Italy's most valuable merchant marine facility. Film actress Ruth Roman's tearful reunion with her 3-year-old son Dicky Hall, from whom she had been separated in the lifeboats was one of the dramatic elements of the Stockholm's arrival.

Also aboard was 9-year-old Henry Wells, Birmingham, Ala., whose mother, Mrs. Alban Wells, is in critical condition at St. Vincent's Hospital as the result of collision injuries.

Meanwhile insurance experts here and abroad began estimating the direct insurance losses of the Andrea Doria, believed to be in the neighborhood of 60 million dollars. They said it may take five years to settle who is liable for what.

Ninety angry survivors of the Andrea Doria charged in a petition Thursday night that the crew of the plush ship was caught unprepared and failed to sound an alarm.

The petitioners charged that the crew shouted orders in Italian that could not be understood by hundreds of English speaking passengers. They said the public address system remained silent.

The petitioners charged that the crew shouted orders in Italian that could not be understood by hundreds of English speaking passengers. They said the public address system remained silent.

Controversy Over Arms' Teaching Certificate Before State Board

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—A Williamson County controversy over Crab Orchard High School Principal Ernest R. Arms flared anew today before the State Teachers Certification Board here.

The board, headed by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Vernon L. Nickell, opened a hearing Thursday on the suspension of Arms' teaching certificate by Williamson County Superintendent of Schools Russell Emery.

The hearing continued today. Emery testified Thursday that he suspended Arms' certificate because of "incompetency, insubordination, mishandling of school funds and unprofessional conduct."

He said the charge involved misadministration of the office, failure to file adequate and correct reports with Emery's office, failure to attend administrative meetings, and other matters.

Not Responsible For Hodge Action, Gov. Stratton Says

FLORA, Ill. (U.P.)—Gov. William G. Stratton said Thursday night he was "not responsible" for the action of former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge but would be responsible for the newly appointed state auditor.

Speaking at the Clay County Fair here, Stratton said he did the only thing possible in firing Hodge and forcing him off the state Republican ticket for the next election after the check scandal broke.

"I was not responsible for the actions of an elected official and I did the only thing possible under the circumstances," Stratton said. The governor added that he didn't "wait for his confession or for lengthy investigation but immediately forced him out of office and off the ticket."

Referring to Lloyd Morey, Hodge's appointed successor, as "one I feel is worthy of trust," Stratton said he would be responsible for Morey's conduct of the auditor's office.

"For his actions I am personally responsible for he was appointed by me and not elected by you," the governor said.

Chrysler 'Idea' Car Goes Down With Italian Ship

DETROIT (U.P.)—A $100,000 "idea" car went down in the Atlantic Ocean with the Italian luxury liner Andrea Doria, Chrysler Corp. announced Thursday.

The car, named the "Norseman," was more than two years in the making. It was on Chrysler drawing boards for a year and it took another 15 months to hand-build it in Italy.

The car was in the hold of the Italian liner 200 feet underwater off Nantucket Island, Mass. Chrysler said the car, a complete loss, was covered by insurance.

Designed by Chrysler Corp. engineering division, the car was built by Ghia of Turin, Italy, classic sports car designers and builders.

The car had no door posts but cantilever arches on each side held the top from the rear with the same strength of present cars with front posts. Rear body panels were made of aluminum to reduce weight. The body was streamlined along aerodynamic principles.

Sin to Condemn Ship's Crew, Chaplain Says

BOSTON (U.P.)—The Boston Globe today quoted the Andrea Doria's Catholic chaplain as saying "it is a sin" for people to condemn the stricken ship's crew.

"I was the fourth last man to leave the ship. In all that time I was able to witness the actions of the crew," the Globe quoted the Rev. Sebastian Natta in an interview in New York.

"The men performed in the best traditions of the sea. They were courageous to the point of death in aiding passengers to escape unharmed."

"Since landing I have heard that some people are making serious charges against the crew of the Andrea Doria. I want to say that it is a sin for people to talk like this."

Stratton Dedicates New Flora Airport

FLORA, Ill. (U.P.)—Gov. William G. Stratton dedicated Illinois Thursday as the leading state in the nation in providing airport facilities.

Stratton, speaking at the dedication of Flora's new airport, said Illinois has more paved and lighted airport runways than any other state. He pointed to Flora's field as "tangible evidence of public money well spent."

The governor said the airport "has come about because the people wanted it to." He lauded the cooperation of Flora residents and public agencies in completing it.

Emery told the United Press the "mishandling of funds" involved several checks with a total value of about $900.

Some 75 Williamson County citizens and school patrons crowded in and around the small hearing room as the case was heard. Many of them voiced support of Arms; others said that Emery's charges were correct.

Arms, 43, is the former superintendent of Crab Orchard Unit School District 3, which office he held in addition to his duties as school principal and teacher.

The Board of Education in October, 1954, notified Arms of his dismissal as superintendent because of his alleged mismanagement of his office.

The dismissal, however, was reversed by the Williamson County Circuit Court in February, 1955. The board later dismissed Arms again on slightly different grounds, but involving the same basic charges.

The Circuit Court again reversed the board, and ordered payment of Arms' $5,000 salary for the 1954-55 school year, which the board had refused to pay.

In April, 1956, Williamson County State's Atty. Carl D. Sneed sought to prosecute Arms for the embezzlement of $285 in school funds, but the case was thrown out in preliminary hearing because of "insufficient evidence."

Arms later resigned as unit superintendent, but retained his job as principal. Emery revoked his certificate in March, 1956.

Beulah Park Holiness Meeting To Begin Aug. 2

The 53rd annual Beulah Park Holiness camp meeting at the Beulah Camp Ground near Eldorado will start Thursday, Aug. 2, and continue through Sunday, Aug. 12.

Evangelists for this 10-day religious meeting will be the Rev. Howard Sweeten of Ashley and the Rev. Eddie Moran of Wilmore, Ky. The song leaders will be Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Insko, also of Wilmore.

Beulah Camp Ground, covering approximately 20 acres, furnishes an ideal spot for the evangelistic services and hundreds of people come from a distance to participate in the worship.

There are 200 cottages on the grounds, plus a large dormitory, to furnish housing and the dining room is equipped to serve 1,000 persons. The large tabernacle will accommodate hundreds of worshippers.

Officers of the camp meeting board are: President, William Williams, Equality; vice president, the Rev. William Henderson, Vandalia; secretary, the Rev. William Sims, East St. Louis; treasurer, J. O. Hall, Harrisburg; recording secretary, L. B. Warkington, Robinson.

Bill to Cancel Tax On Admissions Goes to White House

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Congress Thursday passed and sent to the White House a bill to cancel the 10 per cent federal tax on amusement admissions costing 90 cents or less.

The Senate and House passed the bill by voice votes in rapid order.

Admission costing 50 cents or less now are exempt. The higher exemption will cost the treasury about 60 million dollars a year.

Auks and murrelets lay but a single egg, hummingbirds lay two, robins lay three to five, and grouse lay eight to 15.

TWO FEATURES AT GRAND — Outlaws await a signal in scene from "Fury At Gunsight Pass," starring David Brian, to show at the Grand tonight and Saturday. "Over Exposed," with Richard Crenna and Cleo Moore, also will be on the double feature program.

Joey Giardello Wins Decision Over Germany's Szuzina

MILWAUKEE (U)—Joey Giardello, resting today after a 10-round unanimous win over Germany's Franz Szuzina here Thursday night, is ready to take on Bobby Boyd as his next step up the "comeback trail."

Giardello said Szuzina was a tougher opponent than he expected, but the Philadelphia batter said he was ready for Boyd.

Boyd, the No. 1 NBA middle-weight contender and his manager, Bernie Glickman, were at ringside for the Thursday night event between Giardello and Szuzina.

Glickman said his fighter was having a tough time getting any action from champion Sugar Ray Robinson—and he said the other ranking boxers were "afraid" of Boyd.

Philadelphia's bad boy said he was gaining strength after each bout and quickly closing the gap on his year's layoff. Giardello is his own manager.

Power-Packed Braves Rout Giants, 11-0; Dodgers Sweep Series with Reds

By United Press
The Milwaukee Braves are beating the vaunted power hitters of the Cincinnati Redlegs and Brooklyn Dodgers at their own game. Generally regarded as a team built around pitching, the Braves have rolled to 19 victories in 22 games since July 2 with a power-packed lineup that has averaged 6.7 runs a game. During the same period the Redlegs have averaged 4.4 runs while compiling a 12-11 record and the Dodgers have averaged 5.1 while winning 13 of 22 contests.

Hank Aaron, Joe Adcock, Ed Mathews and Bobby Thomson are the "big sticks" in the drive. This "fearsome foursome" has averaged a composite .331 for the 22 games while connecting for 29 homers and driving in 83 runs.

How They Stack Up
The 22-game breakdown on the four sluggers is as follows:

	AB	H	HR	RBI	Avg.
Aaron	80	34	6	19	.425
Adcock	67	22	12	30	.328
Mathews	81	24	6	20	.296
Thomson	44	10	5	14	.227
Average	272	90	29	83	.331

Aaron knocked in four runs with his 15th homer and two singles and Thomson whacked his 16th round-tripper Thursday when the Braves routed the New York Giants, 11-0, to run their latest winning streak to five games and increase their first-place lead to 5 1/2 games. Gene Conley was touched for nine hits but breezed behind a 16-hit assault to his fifth triumph.

Dodgers Sweep Series

The Dodgers, meanwhile, completed a sweep of their three-game series with the Redlegs with a 5-3 victory behind Roger Craig's six-hitter. Roy Campanella hit a three-run, fourth-inning homer for the Dodgers while Frank Robinson and Ted Kluszewski homered for the Redlegs. The victory moved the Dodgers to within a half-game of the Redlegs but they trail Milwaukee by six games.

Rookie Fred Waters and veteran Howie Pollet collaborated in a four-hitter to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-0 decision over the Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 14-9, in other NL games.

Pollet saved Waters after the young right hander walked the first two batters, in the ninth to help the Pirates score their third straight win with the aid of a throwing error by Sam Jones. Homers by Wally Moon, Ken Boyer and pitcher Herman Wehmeier enabled the Cardinals to kayo Rob-

Mantle Sparks Yanks

Mickey Mantle's three hits led an 11-hit attack that gave the New York Yankees an 8-5 decision over the Chicago White Sox in the American League. Don Larsen limited the White Sox to one run in the last six innings to pick up his sixth win while Jack Harshman suffered his seventh loss.

Bob Lemon registered his 13th victory of the year and 194th of his career when Gene Woodling's sixth-inning homer gave the Cleveland Indians a 1-0 win over the Washington Senators. The game was halted in the seventh by rain but Woodling's homer was enough to give the Indians their sixth straight.

Ted Williams' two-run 10th-inning homer enabled the Boston Red Sox to beat the Kansas City Athletics, 5-3, as Ike Delock won his sixth in a row and eighth game of the year and homers by George Kell, Gus Triandos and Tito Francona paced the Baltimore Orioles to an 11-6 decision over Billy Hoelt and the Detroit Tigers in the other AL games.

Heart Ailment Fatal To Small Daughter Of Yankee Pitcher

TROY, N. Y. (U)—Rip Coleman of the New York Yankees returned home today to attend the funeral of his five-year-old daughter, who died of a heart ailment. The southpaw pitcher will rejoin the Yankees at Kansas City Saturday.

Sugar Creek, Crab Orchard, VFW Win Games

By David Nelson
Sugar Creek topped Jackson's, 7-3; VFW edged Dairy Brand, 9-8, and Crab Orchard downed Social Brethren, 4-3, in Kiwanis league games played Thursday.

Karnes pitched a three-hitter, walking five, while striking out 11, as Sugar Creek beat Jackson's, 7-3. Fields led the winners at the plate with two hits in three tries, and Gee, Guley and Hegglin picked up the losers' only base knocks. Craver, who gave up only five hits while downing 11 on strikes, was the losing pitcher.

Frantz singled in the winning run with two out in the last of the seventh, to give VFW a 9-8 victory over Dairy Brand. Woolard, on the hill for the losers, gave up only eight hits, but three of these were triples, two by Aldridge and one by Kane, which accounted for runs. Roper was the winning pitcher.

Crab Orchard capitalized on four Social Brethren errors as they won, 4-3. Hasting, the winning pitcher, tossed a two-hitter, walking five while striking out 10. Furlow paced the winners at the plate with triple and single. Hagan and Carman had a hit each for Social Brethren. Agin was the losing pitcher.

Legion, Teen-Agers To Play Norris City Saturday Night

The Harrisburg Legion baseball team and the local teen-age squad will play a pair of teams from Norris City Saturday night on the local VFW diamond with the preliminary game set to start at 6:30. The Legion has been playing good baseball since Charlie Nelson has taken over the management of the club.

Legion players who will see action in Saturday's game and Sunday's encounter at Uniontown, Ky., will be Dick Romonosky, catcher; Stout, Wallace and Mills, pitchers; Bob Dallas, 1b, Don Stout or Frank Logsdon, 2b, Dick Odle ss, Harold Guley, 3b, Bill McNew, Bob Roper, Jim Hay and Guy Hay, in the outfield. Ronnie Ziegler, who has been out a couple of games with some broken ribs, will also play if he is in condition to do so. Bill McNew has been out of several games with a neck fracture, but may be ready for duty this week. Aggie Miller will be used in utility if necessary.

The scheduled practice for Saturday has been cancelled but players are requested to be out by 7 p. m. Saturday.

The Teen-Agers have played consistently, winning ball thus far this season, although playing teams with players on an average of two years older. Hurley King, a lassy curve-baller, does most of the pitching for the locals.

Young Housewife Leads First Round Of Women's Open

DULUTH, Minn. (U)—A young housewife with a two-year-old daughter gave the old pros a lesson in golf in the opening round of the 11th annual Women's National Open golf tournament.

Mrs. Kathy Cornelius, a 23-year-old neophyte in the women pro golf ranks was the only player to shoot par for the first 18 holes Thursday over the sprawling 6,419-foot Northland Country Club course, and that was good enough for first place.

Mrs. Cornelius, the wife of a Lake Worth, Fla., pro used her putter to perfection on the back nine holes to finish with 33 after her morning round of 40.

Her great finishing spurt—three birdies on the last five holes—gave her a one-stroke lead over Mrs. Marlene Bauer Hagge, Asheville, N. C., and Beverly Hanson, of California, two of the tourney favorites.

Patty Berg, the sentimental favorite, stayed in the running for her second National Open crown with a 40-38 for 78, good for 12th place.

Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga., and amateur Barbara McIntire, Toledo, Ohio, tied for fourth with 75s.

They were followed by Louise Suggs, Sea Island, Ga.; Joyce Ziske, Waterford, Wis., and Marilyn Smith, Bloomfield, Mich., with 76s.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

While watching the Rotary-Kiwanis baseball game Wednesday evening I thought of a remark one of the players had made last week, following a practice session.

The remark was something like this—"Years ago I used to watch the older guys play baseball and always wondered why they didn't run as fast as they could. After yesterday's practice. I know now they were running as fast as they could. They just couldn't run very fast."

While on the subject of the game, I believe it was outstanding in that not a fly to the outfield was caught.

But, this must be said. The players did their best and gave the fans a good evening of entertainment. That's all anyone could expect.

A representative of the Mississippi Valley Championship Circuit of Racing, sponsoring organization of the big car racing program to be staged at the Saline County Fair Friday, Aug. 3, was through Harrisburg a few days ago and visited The Daily Register office.

In discussing the racing program the representative said he had inspected the half-mile track and was certain at least one driver would make the run in 26 seconds flat. We then checked back on the best time recorded when the big racing cars were in Harrisburg in 1950 and found the best time at that racing date to be 26.54.

If one of the drivers this year circles the track in .26 that should give the fans plenty of thrills as there were maybe an "Oh" and "Ah" sounded six years ago as the drivers sped around and around the Saline County Fairgrounds track.

Jim Redden, coach at Cairo high school last year, will join the Eldorado high school coaching staff this term it is reported. Redden will fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Gene Haile, who stepped into the head football coaching spot at McLeansboro after three years as freshman coach at the ETHS.

The rains of the past week probably have been welcomed by the farmers, but they certainly weren't what the building contractors ordered.

A look at the construction site of the Eldorado high school gymnasium discloses that work there probably will be halted several days. The gym is to be the bowl type—the floor below ground level—and plenty of excavation was necessary. The big hole in the ground was fairly well filled with water.

Looked more like the making of a swimming pool than a gym.

The rains fall on those that don't need it as well as on those that do, to twist a phrase.

The Blonde Cried

MURDER

By Brett Halliday

Copyright 1956 by Brett Halliday Distributed by NEA Service

THE STORY: Michael Shayne, red-haired private detective, and his secretary and sweetheart Lucy Hamilton have returned from an evening's entertainment to Lucy's apartment. In another part of town a frightened woman is seeking him. She believed she found the body of her murdered brother, and the body disappeared from the hotel room where she found it.

ALL right. Why didn't he marry Lucy? Tonight, he decided grimly, he was going to face the question squarely.

He straightened up in the chair as he heard the swish of her full skirt re-entering the room. She carried a tray with a squat bottle of cognac, a four-ounce wine glass, a tumbler with ice cubes in it for herself, another tumbler filled with ice and water for him to sip while he drank cognac from the wine glass.

She set the tray down on a low table in front of the sofa, seated herself in the corner close to Shayne's chair, and filled the four-ounce glass with cognac. Then she poured an inch in the bottom of her tumbler, and held his glass out to him.

Her telephone rang. The shrill, insistent ring of the phone shattered her placidity as the glassy surface of a still pond is shattered by a stone tossed into the center.

She continued to hold the glass out for him and said hoarsely, "I shan't answer it. It'll be for you, of course. No one would be calling me at this hour."

"All the more reason for you to answer it," said Shayne. "It might be important."

"A blonde?" she asked tautly. He said easily, "Or a brunette."

The telephone kept on ringing. With a gesture of impatience, he rose and crossed to it in two strides. "Miss Hamilton's apartment," then he said, "That's right," and listened, his right hand going up to rub his jaw absently.

Watching him, Lucy Hamilton compressed her lips tightly and set his untouched glass of cognac back on the tray. It was a limp gesture of surrender.

With his back to her, he said incisively, "All right, Pete. I'll be there in five minutes."

He replaced the phone and turned, shaking his head sadly though his gray eyes were alert and not at all unhappy.

"Sorry, angel. But that was—" "A blonde," she supplied for him. "A blonde in distress, no less. Just dying to weep on Mike Shayne's broad shoulder."

"You know I'm sorry," Shayne said again. He turned to the door, saying calmly, "Keep that drink for me. I'll be back before midnight."

10:00 P. M.

THE lobby of Shayne's hotel was deserted except for the night clerk behind the desk and one young woman smoking a cigaret in an over-stuffed chair on one side facing the doorway as Shayne entered.

She wore a dark skirt, a white blouse with a light gray jacket over it, and had a red patent-leather handbag in her lap.

"I didn't know whether to call you at Miss Hamilton's or not, Mr. Shayne," Pete kept his voice furtively low. "But you did give me that number once, for me to try if I thought it was important. She said it was, see? And acted scared to death. You know, looking back over her shoulder like she thought the devil himself might be after her. And you told me it was all right to send somebody up to your room to wait for you to come back, and so I thought—"

"If she were pretty enough," Shayne reminded him.

"Yeh. Real pretty." Pete's answering grin was relieved by Shayne's evidence of good humor. "Not for my money, anything like as hot as this here other one sitting yonder." He jerked his thumb toward the girl with the red pocketbook. "But then she didn't come in till later, see, so I couldn't very easily send her up, too."

Shayne rested one elbow on the counter and pivoted to look at the girl across the lobby. Watching them closely, it must have been evident to her that she was under discussion.

She was extremely well filled-out for her age, which didn't appear to be more than 20. Her eyes were light blue and had a peculiar glassy quality, lashes and brows so thin and light as to seem almost non-existent. She had too much lipstick on a full and pouting mouth which she spread in a hopeful smile as she came up fast, asking, "Are you Mr. Shayne?"

SHAYNE nodded without speaking, studying her through narrowed eyes as she looked past him at Pete and demanded viciously, "Well, why didn't you say so? You promised me as soon as he came in—"

"And I just came in," said Shayne quietly. "I'm afraid I haven't time for—"

"You've got time for me." Her fingers caught his arm and tugged at it, pulling him away from the desk toward a corner where they would be out of earshot. "I've been going crazy wondering what I'd do if you didn't get back in time. But it's all right because I know he'll still be there if you go right away. He was there 15 minutes ago. The Silver Glade. It's right down the street."

She had her leather bag open as she spoke, and was digging into it. Her hand came out with a four-by-six photograph of a young man which she thrust into Shayne's hand.
